Consulting Services for Agricultural Center Business Case

Project and Proposal Requirements

Section 1: Organization Background and Project Purpose

1.1 Background

As a result of the Provincial Government's Climate Leadership strategy and subsequent plan to phase out coal fired electricity generation, which would have a detrimental economic impact on the region, a Climate Change Strategy Taskforce was formed in December 2015. The taskforce consisted of representation from the Town of Hanna, Special Areas Board and Cactus Corridor Economic Development Corporation (CCEDC). It engaged in a strategy to analyze regional assets and look for opportunities from its residents by way of a Community Action Team process. This process has identified a number of possible economic development initiatives in the agricultural sector, which would capitalize on the regions already strong agricultural history.

The Town of Hanna is located in Special Areas No. 2 along Highway 9 and near Highway 36 with a population of approximately 2700 people. The Special Areas is a unique rural municipality in Southeastern Alberta administered by a Board appointed by Lieutenant Governor in Council. Its boundaries outline over 5 million acres of land and are home to almost 5000 people within three Special Areas (No. 2, 3 & 4).

Cactus Corridor Economic Development Corporation is a non-profit organization formed in November 2012 by Special Areas No. 2, Town of Hanna, Village of Youngstown and the Hanna Learning Centre to focus on economic development and growth in the region.

1.2 Vision for Project

The Agricultural Center project would capitalize on the regions strong history in the agricultural sector by incorporating a number of initiatives that have been proposed by local residents and stakeholder groups. These initiatives will fall under 3 main phases; a Livestock Hub, a Riding and Event Center, and Food Production Facilities.

1.3 Project Purpose

The Agricultural Center would harness the regions strengths and bring them together in a shared facility that will have long term economic sustainability benefits for the region.

1.4 Project Goal

The intent of this RFP is to acquire qualified consulting services to complete a business case, which would provide a decision making instrument to be used to possibly pursue the Agricultural Center in its entirety or any of the proposed phases. It will answer the question, what are the feasible components of an agricultural center in the Cactus Corridor region?

Section 2: Project Scope

2.1 Project Components

The Agricultural Center project has 3 main components which incorporate a number of potential segments:

1. Livestock Hub (veterinary services; feed store; animal nutritionist; equine rehab and assisted therapy; animal training courses such as first aid and emergency rescue; research facility)
2. Riding and Event Center (indoor riding arena; boarding facility; rodeo facilities; farmers market; auction house; retail operations)
3. Food Production Facilities (greenhouse; feed lot; fertilizer plant; seed cleaning plant; custom slaughter facility; grain storage; companion food production)

An expected part of the Business Case will be consultations with stakeholders to determine which initiatives should form part of the various components and which stakeholders may pursue business or operational relationships with the Agricultural Center. For example, would the local school division be a partner in using the facility to engage in educational opportunities for veterinary services or a rodeo academy.

2.2 Business Case Requirements

The business case must, at a minimum, address the following:

- Capital Financing Requirements: cost breakdown of the project components to full completion including land acquisition and construction costs
- Funding Options: potential sources of funding to construct the various components
- Operational Financial Requirements: potential operational costs for each component (budget expectations) for the first 5 years of operations
- Revenue Sources: potential sources of revenue for the first 5 years of operations
- Site Plans: potential site plans and suitable locations within a 50km radius of the Town of Hanna (possible locations would, at a minimum, have good access to major area highways and all utilities)
- Human Resources: minimum human resource requirements to maintain and operate the various project components
- Organization Structure / Business Model: options for governance and ownership structures
- Market and Competitive Analysis: a SWOT analysis including risks and regional needs

2.3 Project Governance

The project will be guided by Cactus Corridor Economic Development Corporation, its manager, board and as needed a project team made up of local stakeholders and project champions. The successful proponent will report to the CCEDC manager.

The manager and associated team will also act as a source of expertise for and feedback to the successful proponent throughout the project and will be responsible for providing feedback on each deliverable.

The successful proponent will be expected to address any concerns and ensure the approval of the manager before considering a deliverable of the project is completed satisfactorily.

2.4 Project Budget

This is a competitive bidding process and Cactus Corridor Economic Development Corporation reserves the right to accept a proposal other than the lowest proposal without stating reasons.

2.5 Expected Deliverables

1. Interviews with local officials, stakeholders and the public at large.
2. Report of findings should include data collection and analysis, including results of interviews.
3. Provide a printed copy as well as an electronic version (in pdf and word format) of the final report.
4. Presentation of findings to CCEDC and stakeholders.
5. Final report will answer the question, what are the feasible components of an agricultural center in the Cactus Corridor region?

Meetings and other forms of communication with CCEDC will be required from the Consultant throughout the course of this project. Contact between the Consultant and CCEDC will occur when needed, at no cost to the project Sponsors.
